- Students undertaking the online program will be required to attend a virtual Orientation Session.
- For information on how COVID-19 circumstances may impact the approval and conditions of your student visa, students are required to visit the Department of Home Affairs website for more information. This is accessible at: <https://covid19.homeaffairs.gov.au/>.

While students complete their course online and offshore, the following additional refund conditions will apply during the COVID-19 period:

- Students who commence their studies offshore and online in Session 202060 (Semester 2, 2020), will receive a full refund of their tuition fees if they are unsuccessful in obtaining a visa to study onshore, and:
- The visa rejection was not based on failure to provide evidence of financial funds, or fraud; and
- The student chooses not to continue their studies offshore and online.
- Should this situation apply to you, you will be required to provide a copy of your visa rejection letter as evidence.
- Your letter of offer has the default payment plan structure, which is the minimum deposit required for an eCoE to be issued for a student visa.

Given you will not need a student visa to study online while offshore during the COVID-19 period, you will be allowed to study between one and four subjects in Session 202060. You only need to pay for the number of subjects you plan to study. Please confirm the number of subjects you want to study while online and offshore in the space provided below and we will change the fees details on your offer accordingly.

If you want to reduce the number of subjects and the deposit has been paid, any un-used fees will carry forward to the next instalment. If you want to increase the number of subjects, you will need to pay for the extra subjects before starting the course.

I agree to enrol and pay for _____ subjects for Session 202060.

Once the COVID-19 period is over, the terms of the Letter of Offer will apply.

This means, in order to proceed with your studies and receive your CoE, you will need to ensure you have:

- Paid any upfront fee deposit;
- Turned 18 prior to the issuing of your CoE;
- Provided a certified copy of your official academic transcript, with results meeting the entry requirement to the College;
- Completed an official English test that meets minimum requirements for a student visa and the standard English language requirements for your program;
- Arranged OSHC;
- Completed and passed your GTE assessment, and;
- Met all the other requirements listed in the Letter of Offer.

Preparing for your arrival

International students studying on campus in Australia need to know some important information that will make their transition as smooth as possible.

Visit our page preparing for arrival page at <https://www.csustudycentres.edu.au/campus/australia/arrival> for all the information you need to start your preparations to join us here at CSU.

Notification of address in Australia

It is a requirement of your student visa that you notify CSU, as your education provider, of your contact details in Australia within seven days of your arrival. You are also required to advise any change of address, telephone number or email within seven days. You will be reminded of this during Orientation at your CSU campus.

You must also tell us who to contact in emergency situations including their telephone number, address and email.

Orientation

Each new student to CSU will need to attend Orientation. Orientation usually happens in the week leading up to your first session of study. The Orientation program is designed to assist you with transitioning to CSU and provides you with lots of information about your studies, your obligations and responsibilities as a student, how to access support services, what to do in an emergency and you will have the opportunity to have fun, meet new friends and join in social events. Your International Student Liaison Officer has designed an Orientation specifically for on campus International students to help you settle in to life in Australia and you will also be included in the general orientation for all new CSU students.

Complaints and appeals

If at any time you are not satisfied with the service provided to you or the decisions that have been made by Charles Sturt University, you may submit a complaint to the University Ombudsman. Contact the University Ombudsman. The New South Wales Ombudsman is an independent external avenue to lodge complaints: <https://www.ombo.nsw.gov.au/what-we-do/our-work/universities>

Disclosure information

CSU reminds you that the information provided in your application may be made available to Australian Commonwealth and State Agencies pursuant to obligations under the Education Services for Overseas Students (ESOS) Act 2000 and the National Code of Practice for Providers of Education and Training to Overseas Students 2018. CSU is required under Section 19 of the ESOS Act 2000, to inform the Department of Immigration about changes to your course enrolment and any breach of your student visa condition relating to satisfactory academic performance.

Tuition Protection Service

The Tuition Protection Service (TPS) is an initiative of the Australian Government to assist international students whose education providers are unable to fully deliver their course of study. The TPS ensures that international students are able to either:

- complete their studies in another course or with another education provider or
- receive a refund of their unspent tuition fees

For more information, visit: <https://tps.gov.au/>

Interruption to your studies

Some students may be eligible for a deferment or leave of absence in compassionate or compelling circumstances for a specified period of time (for example you may need to return home for a term to take care of a sick relative) - you must have written permission from CSU to take leave or defer your studies.

Additionally, CSU may suspend or exclude you from your studies for a number of reasons such as: you fail to maintain satisfactory academic progress, you fail to pay your fees on time or due to a penalty for academic or general misconduct. You will be notified by the University in writing of any such decision and the options to appeal.

If your studies are interrupted for any of the above reasons, CSU will report the interruption to Immigration and other relevant Australian Government Departments. You will need to contact Immigration about your student visa requirements as you may need to return home if your studies are interrupted.
