COUNSELLING AND MENTORING DIARY

EXORDIUM

Technical education in the present century is challenging both the teacher and the taught. In order to formulate strategies with planning we need to monitor the progress, innovation and implementation with courage to build a better society. In the light of these basic elements, "student counselling" forms as an integral component in the college which is aimed at fostering and nurturing students to excel in academics and develop self confidence, right behaviour and ethical values in their life. Counselling offers a space to discuss the difficulties of the students and provides alignment to goals and adherence to principals during their study period. Due to counselling, the mind is free to think positively and paves the way to achieve excellence in academics. Mentoring is the driving force to realize success. Counselling improves teacher-student relationship. In this system, students of every branch are divided into groups and one teacher per group is assigned the job as counsellor.

Guidelines for faculty mentors:

- ❖ The counsellor collects all the data (Personal/academic) pertaining to the students and keeps a record of attendance and academic performance.
- ❖ Time to time, the attendance and academic performance reports have to be communicated to the parents.
- ❖ The Counsellors will arrange a meeting with parents in case of inadequate attendance, poor performance in the examinations and misbehaviour of any student in the campus.
- ❖ Counselling is to promote and ensure a healthy academic environment. If any individual in the campus is facing issues in personal life or academics, they are taken care and helped by the counsellors.
- ❖ A separate mentoring and counselling hour is maintained for each class as part of their time-table.

- ❖ Pay personal attention when the student concerned approaches counsellor and encourage them to speak with open minded setup.
- ❖ Let students know that mistakes are productive because we learn from our failures.
- ❖ Be open and approachable is especially in case of students with inhibitions. (When student is shy or comes from different cultural background.)
- ❖ The enthusiasm and optimism exhibited by the counsellor has to be inspirational.
- ❖ Guide the students to choose right career path for job, higher studies, entrepreneurship etc.
- ❖ Whenever any Parent contacts the counsellor concerned provide complete information relating to their ward.
- ❖ The Director/Principal and Head of the departments take initiative and follow up the activity related to the issues raised and suggestions given during the counselling sessions.
- ❖ Since time is an essential prerequisite, encourage the student to make effective use of time.
- ❖ One size does not fit all and one mentor cannot provide all the guidance in some specific cases. Introduce students to other faculty / alumni etc. Effective mentoring is a community effort.
- ❖ Work along with the students on developing schedules to meet bench marks.

Some Common issues of our youngsters

- 1) Academic pressures (lack of concentration and motivation for studies, under achievement , backlogs, exam stress, unhealthy competition)
- 2) Loneliness and homesickness
- 3) Adjustment difficulties
- 4) Peer pressure
- 5) Relationship issues
- 6) Family problems
- 7) Procrastination
- 8) Cyber bullying
- 9) Behavioural problems (anger out bursts, disobedience, lying etc)
- 10) Low confidence
- 11) Suicidal thoughts
- 12) Depression, anxiety and other mental health problems.

"Take an interest in developing another person's career and well – being."
